PERSONALIZED JOURNALISM such as we have at The Campbell Press has a certain number of advantages...and disadvantages.

With the limited staff, it is quite easy for the reader to pinpoint the guy or gal who was responsible for something that appeared (or didn't appear) in the paper.

Whereas passing the buck on the big papers has been developed into a fine art, on The Press the buck sort of stops quick. It's no pass, just a handoff, to use gridiron parlance.

IN THE LARGE PAPERS, there is sometimes a wide gulf between the reporter's original composition and the story that appears in print, especially after an editor's blue pencil has had full sway.

On the big papers, a different staff member writes the headline for the story that the reporter has submitted. This often gives rise to misunderstandings and misinterpretations. Those who write heads strive for cleverness, but their results often leave much to be desired and the reporter chagrined.

THERE IS'NT A WEEK that goes by at The Press that someone doesn't call (irate or otherwise) and wants to speak to the publisher or editor. And they are generally able to do so right away (at our joint that's the same guy) unless the editor and publisher is out reporting, shooting pictures or sweeping out.

In stark contrast have you ever tried to call the publisher or even a top editor of the Merc-News about a typographical error either in a kidding or serious vein?

IN THIS RESPECT we at The Press are more vulnerable. It's pretty darn easy for you to find out who got the story in the first place; who wrote it; who edited it and who put the head on it.

It's generally the same person. At The Press, two guesses are about all you need. It is generally Grace or George. Period.

Thus when an error appears (once in a while this does happen), we don't have any place to run to.

SMALL PAPERS like The Press also have the advantage of having a large number of unpaid proofreaders. (They are also known as "constant readers".)

The only trouble is that the errors aren't caught until the paper is out. Then it is too late to do anything about it.

Last week, for example, an extra zero was added to the enrollment figures in the head of the story on the West Valley College and 5000 became 50000,

Bleacher blaze burns books

A storage room under the bleachers at Campbell High's athletic field caught fire Monday night destroying obsolete text books and several pieces of small machinery stored there by the district.

Three rigs and 20 men responded to the 9:21 p.m. blaze which consumed more than 10,000 obsolete text books stored under the concrete bleachers, according to the Campbell Fire Department.

The fire department reports that the blaze was first spotted by a private citizen residing on N. Bland avenue who called in the report. Custodians working at the school opened the gates to let the firefighters onto the school athletic field.

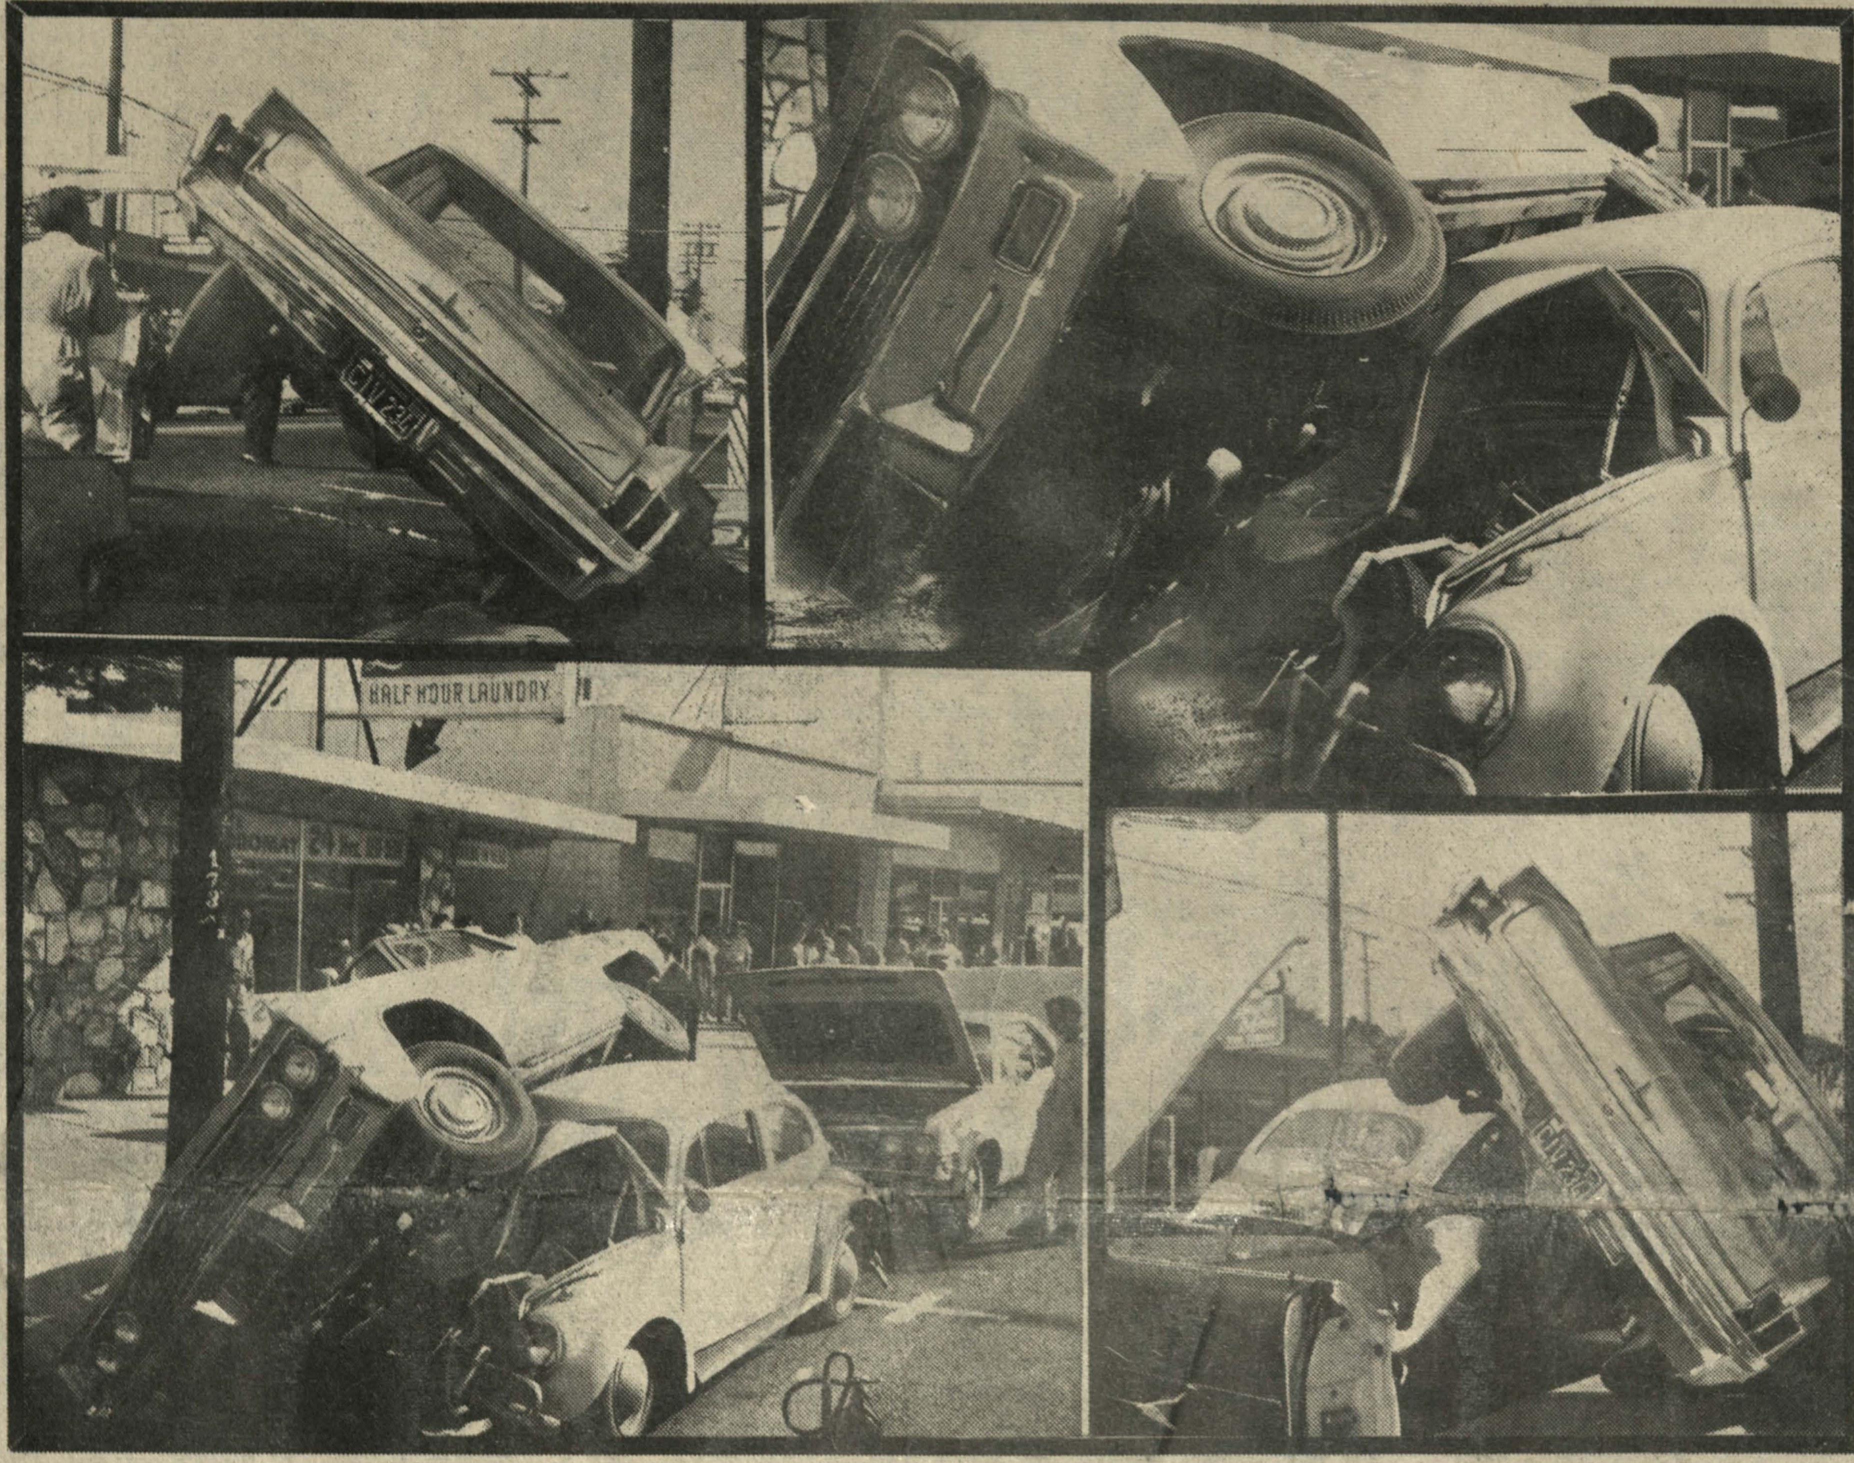
Laurance J. Hill, Campbell Union High School District superintendent said the books, which were no longer being used in the school district schoolrooms, were in the process of being sold, or disposed of. Hill said that the books, some of which dated from 1900, had been exhibited to all teachers and librarians, and many had been put to use in this way.

Plans were also under way to send the text books to overseas and to improvished United States and Mexico schools; a good many had been sold to had been sold to second-hand book stores and the books were to have been shown to the parents of school children at school functions in order for those desiring to have the text-books at home could do so. All of the books were at least seven years old and had been in the students hands for over five years of active usage.

The equipment, which had been stored by the district for future possible usage, consisted mainly of a small generator and unused lighting equipment.

On Tuesday, Eugene Borden, fire marshal, was investigating the possibility of juveniles setting the blaze in a retaliation against the school for some reason or other. It was definitely determined that the blaze had been the work of an arsonist. No other buildings or equipment were damaged by the blaze.

Even if you saw this happen, you still might not believe it



Little car "lifts" big one in freak accident on Campbell Ave...

Fours cars were involved last Thursday in one of the most freakish traffic accidents to ever occur in the downtown area of Campbell. Only minor injuries were suffered by the persons in the cars.

The photos above show three of the cars that participated in this mobile free-for all, which many experts claim could not have happened. But it did. The fourth car involved was struck at Central Ave., a block away from the above shots.

A little Volkswagon became a virtual wedge, forced by a 1965 Chrysler that had struck it in the rear and literally lifted a 1963 Olds off the ground. The Olds, unoccupied, was parked on Campbell Ave. near Second St.

In the top photo on the left the Volks has just been towed away and the Olds appears to be suspended in mid-air (actually a cable was attached to another tow truck). The close-up on the top right shows the smashed in top of the Volks. The close-up on the top photo in the lower left shows how the three cars ended. The Volks is shown under the Olds in the right lower photo.

Police officers who investigated the complex accident reconstructed the chain of events in this fashion:

Mrs. Annete Marguerite Lindsey, of 2366 Pauline, San Jose, driving a '65 Chrysler, was proceeding west on Campbell, at Central. Apparently she rammed into a 1964 Pontiac driven by Mrs. Marcia Kimble, of 1564 Wawona Drive, San Jose.

Mrs. Lindsey then must have accelerated instead of braking. She continued west on Campbell Ave. and hit the Volkswagon at the intersection of First St. The Volks was driven by George E. Mansfield, 1172 Mesa St., San Jose. His wife was riding with him.

Police theorize that the bumpers of the two cars locked in the impact and thus the Volks became a battering ram, swerving to the right and striking the parked Oldsmobile owned by Mrs. Josephine May Goudy, 1192 Fewtrell.

The Olds was raised by the impact. The Volks burrowed under it with the results as pictured above.

Mrs. Mansfield was slightly bruised and Mansfield was treated for a whip-lash injury.

Free service to residents

City holds fall clean-up day Monday, October 4

Residents within the city limits of Campbell will have an opportunity on Monday, October 4, to get rid of the trash and rubbish they have accumulated in their yards during the summer....and for free.

This is the date set by the Campbell Fire Department for the second "Fall Clean-up Campaign" conducted under the auspicies of the fire department in cooperation with Los Gatos Scavenger Co.

According to Lea Neal, of the fire department, all residents within the city limits, who are now receiving the services of the Los Gatos Scavenger Co., which has the franchise for trash and garbage collection in the city, may avail themselves of the free service offered on October 4.

Trash and rubbish to be picked up must be placed on the curb line in front of the residences by 7 a.m. on Monday, October 4.

Neal explains that rubbish to be picked up must be placed in a container or tied in bundles not exceeding four-feet in length and must be light enough to be handled by one man.

The containers or bundles must be on the curb line. No large appliances or furniture will be picked up by the scavenger company, he said.

In cooperation with Los Gatos Scavenger Co., the city conducts two such clean-up campaigns each year, once during the spring season and one again in the fall.

Park meet

Mayor Charles Rose will represent the city Thursday at a joint luncheon meeting with the supervisors and mayors of Los Gatos, Saratoga and Monte Sereno on the future development of Los Gatos Creek. The meeting will be held at Villa Felice.

Phone project in street tests drivers' patience

Large doses of patience was the only known antidote offered this week to counteract the traffic congestion at Winchester and Campbell.

Motorists using Campbell Ave. to and from work from the west side of town were urged by Bill Wren, acting public works director, to use other routes until the Pacific Telephone project is completed at the intersection of Campbell and Winchester

The job should be done by the end of the week, Wren said.

Wren added that he hoped those who must use the intersection would be patient and hold their gripes to a minimum. But he didn't sound too optimistic on that score.

While the phone company is working, only two lanes (one each way) of traffic will cross Winchester. One regular east bound lane will be closed. The lanes on Winchester will not be affected by the construction.

Wren also advises that no right turns off Winchester onto Campbell Ave. will be allowed during the construction period.

Pacific Telephone is enlarging its vault for the main trunk lines that serve the area. The vault is located in the intersection. It is 10-ft. by 15-ft. in dimensions and approximately 10-feet deep.

But some good will come from this temporary inconvenience to local motorists.

When the expansion of the vault is completed, the main trunk lines will be underground, thus eliminating the poles on the east side of Winchester to the northern city limits.

San Tomas worries planners

Conflicting opinions as to how the San Tomas area is going to develop in the future and how best to plan for such development delayed action by the Planning Commission Monday night on a zone change request for the Smith family, owners of the San Tomas Village Center.

The Smiths had asked that the zone be changed from R-1 (residential) to C-1-S (commercial) for property adjacent to the center on San Tomas Aquino Road, in order to expand the shopping facilities.

director, in recommending denial for the zone request explained that in the future alignment of San Tomas Road was to be changed and the center would then be "off the beaten track." He suggested that the area would be better for residential development.

Creek development

The Campbell Press has continually urged that steps be taken to develop a county park along Los Gatos Creek. We recognize that such development cannot happen overnight. Neither can it take place without the cooperation of all public agencies involved.

The City of Campbell for years has realized that Los Gatos Creek, as it wends its way through the city, has a great potential but that the city is helpless to develop this potential on its own.

We have all been well aware that the creek area adjacent to the freeway has been a pretty shoddy "show-window" for our city.

The little Campbell Park on Gilman Ave. at Campbell is an outstanding example of how a substandard area can be transformed into a beauty spot.

But the little park is such a tiny part of the overall potential that it is lost because of the unattractiveness of the remaining portion of creek area within the city limits.

Although improving the appearance of the creek area, i.e. the "dressing up" of the city's show window, is important from the standpoint of civil pride, we firmly believe that the development of the creek area into a park and recreational area has even greater significance.

The improvement of the entire creek area from Vasona through Campbell into a recreational area is not as far-fetched an idea as some pessimists would have us believe.

Much of the land along the creek is already owned by public agencies. Our city, for example, recently acquired seven acres near the Camden interchange and hundreds of acres in the general area owned by the water conservation district.

We are convinced that it IS possible to turn the creek area not only into a beauty spot but also into valuable recreational area. We know we are talking about the future. But we maintain in order to realize this eventual goal, action must be taken now.

There are other facets to the picture of this creek development that should be, in our opinion, explored to the fullest extent.

Take, for example, the site of the West Valley American Legion Hall which extends into the creek and adjoins the property now owned by the city.

It may be possible to negotiate with the Legion and to acquire this property which could be transformed into a ready-made recreational center that could be a part and parcel of any other development along the creek.

We reiterate (even if you have become tired of this reiteration) that there IS a definite potential along the creek that in years to come could be developed into one of the most outstanding recreational areas in the entire county . . . and at a cost, we surmise, that would be far less than the development of many other spots now under study.

Campbell city officials have taken the lead in an attempt to stimulate interest among neighboring cities and the county in this creek development program.

Supervisors have indicated interest, as have officials of the flood control and water conservation districts.

The district people, especially, have pointed out that they are willing to cooperate and point out what has taken place in the Vasona Park area as an outstanding example of what CAN be done in this field.

A strong ally for the creek development has also been found in Supervisor Sig Sanchez. And Ralph Mehrkens has also shown enthusiasm for the project.

This week, at the urging of Mayor Charles Rose, a vigorous advocate for the development of the creek as far back as 1956, the mayors of Monte Sereno, Saratoga, Los Gatos and Campbell will host the supervisors at a luncheon to discuss plans for the development of the creek.

We think such a meeting could prove extremely valuable. From it perhaps might come a coordinated joint effort that could transform a dream into reality for the benefit of the entire county.

Council to meet Monday

A light agenda faces the City Council next Monday night, September 27, according to Bob Stephens, city manager.

Several non-controversial public hearings are scheduled. Also on the agenda is the continued appeal from last meeting of Ken Norton for a zone change at Winchester and Alice which would allow him to establish a used car operation at that location. The Planning Commission denied the application on the basis that the parcel is too small for that type of business.

REAGAN TO SPEAK

Ronald Reagan will be the featured speaker in a program on "Our U. S. Constitution" at Foothill College gym, this Thursday, Sept. 23 at 8 p. m. September is "Constitution Observance Month" sponsored by the Masonic Lodge. This will be a non-political program.

CITY TO EXPAND PARK--Here are two views (front and rear) of the property on Gilman Ave. adjoining Campbell Park which the city has agreed to purchase from Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hall and Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Hall for $12,000. The buildings will be removed and the area converted into much-needed parking space for those using the park.

The city hopes to receive 50% of the purchase price from the federal government under the 'open space' program.

Campbell school district gains 66 new teachers

Campbell Union (elementary) School District opened school for the 1965-1966 school year with a total of 66 new teaching staff members.

The added staff members were required to implement the new foreign language program in grades six, seven, and eight for replacement of retiring teachers for the 500 new students enrolled this year.

Janet Fair, kindergarten teacher at Sherman Oaks School, and Robert Neily, sixth grade teacher at Campbell School, share the unique honor of being the only two new teachers who were graduated from Campbell elementary and high schools. Miss Fair is also one of the 17 new staff members who received part of her college training as a student teacher in the local district last year.

Many of the group are experienced teachers who have taught in other districts in California, other states, and American Dependent Schools in Japan, Germany and France. More than one hundred and five years of teaching experience by this group brought a wealth of background and teaching techniques to the local students.

Although more than half of the newly selected staff members claim San Jose State as their Alma Mater, many other schools of higher learning were represented including Stanford, U. C. at Berkeley, Sacramento State, Chico State, Fresno State, University of Hawaii, Oregon State, University of Oregon, Cal State at Hayward, Baldwin Wallace, Arizona State, and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo.

Postmaster, City Manager aid Fund

James M. Hurley is working with post office employees and Robert C. Stephens is in charge of the drive among Campbell's city employees during this year's United Fund campaign. Hurley is acting postmaster of Campbell and Stephens is city manager.

The appointments are announced by Campbell's Campaign Chairman Ledger A. Myers, assistant to the plant manager, IBM Supplies Division. "These men held the same positions during the '64 campaign, and I know we can count on them to do the same fine job again this year," says Myers.

Both men are working with volunteers in soliciting donations from those working in the public employees division. The funds they collect will be used to continue the work of 66 agencies dealing in the problems of citizenship development, welfare, and health.

"With the rapid rate this area is growing," says Hurley, "it is more important than ever that citizens realize their responsibility to their community by giving to the United Fund."

discussion, which touched on the recent highly controversial action of the council denying the plans for a shopping center at Hacienda and San Tomas submitted by Topaz Builders, the commission decided to continue the matter until October 18 to allow the staff to complete a study of the area. The study would include compiling information on future plans of various public agencies for the area. The staff had been directed by the council to make such a study, which would include street patterns, possible school sites and flood control projects.

In other actions, the Commission:

--RECOMMENDED that the San Jose Planning Commission deny the request for a zone change for property north of Hamilton and off Bascom which would allow a drive-in theater to be located there.

--DENIED applications of two signs; one was for a barber shop owned by Walter Geidt at 69 San Tomas Road and the other for "Speedy Burger" at 2025 Winchester just off Campbell Ave.

--APPROVED the application of Ira Kirkorian for a commercial building at Fulton and Bucknall.

--EXTENDED the time for approval for plans for a restaurant at 954 Camden Ave. owned by William Gray and also for Shell Oil for a service station at Winchester and Sunnyoaks.

--APPROVED the zone change request submitted by Leep Homes on property located on the north side of Pollard Road approximately 1000-feet west of More Ave. The area is now zoned residential for 8000 square foot lots. The change approved drops the lots to 6000 square feet.

We heard about it several times.

OUR PICTORIAL MESSAGE in last week's issue suggesting that students use the college parking lot on Rincon Ave. instead of the residential streets for parking while in class did some good, we have been informed.

Our informants thought there are now fewer cars on the residential streets than there were before the paper came out and that more are now using the Rincon Ave. lot.

If you recall, we published two pictures side-by-side. One showed the wide expanse of empty parking spaces on Rincon and the other, the cars on N. Second.

The caption reported that both pictures were taken at 9 a.m. on the day college opened.

ONE OF OUR "constant readers" suggested that was quite a feat of photography in

That is, shooting both pictures at the same time, inasmuch as five blocks separated the two scenes.

Listen, smart guy, there could have been two camera crews on the job. That is, if we had two cameras and two crews.

Actually, there was a difference in time between the two shots, about five minutes.

This brings up another salient point that the college kids who don't like to walk might ponder.

In many instances the cars that were parked on the residential streets were farther away from the college than those in the parking lot on Rincon Ave.

HISTORY AT The Press in a sort of negative way was made last month when burglars visited our joint for the first time in the 70 years of this paper's existence.

The Press was knocked over at the only time of the month when there was any sizeable amount of cash around the place. The carriers had just turned in their monthly collections and there hadn't been time to deposit it.

But it seems August was the month that burglars went for paper money (that pun was intended).

JEFF COKER, one of the top carriers at The Press, reported that while he and his family were on vacation their house was looted.

You guessed it. Jeff had just finished his monthly collections and the burglars made off with his hard-earned dough.

WHAT'S DOING?

It was 86 years ago that phone numbers were born—with Dr. Moses Greeley Parker. During a measles epidemic in Lowell, Mass., Dr. Parker realized that if the town's four operators got sick phone service would virtually cease. He proposed using numbers in place of the 200 subscribers' names—which the regular operators had memorized—so that substitutes might quickly learn to operate the exchange. Keeping track of those 200 telephones, without numbers, was a problem then—but today with more than 90 million phones in the U.S.A. would be impossible.

When President Johnson signed the 1965 Excise Tax Reduction Bill he stated its purpose: to help America grow by creating lower prices, more sales, more production, more jobs. As part of this bill, the 10% Federal Excise Tax on phone service will be removed in four stages: Beginning January 1966 it will be cut by 7% then by 1% each year until it is eliminated in 1969. The President said the Excise Tax reduction will make its maximum contribution to the country's economic health only if the full amount is passed along to consumers. The reduction in Excise Tax will be reflected in your telephone bill in January, which I'm sure comes as good news to you.

Planners defer action on Bascom zone change

Planning Commission members on Monday night almost ran out of possible courses of action in a zone-change matter before deciding to defer action on the issue until their next meeting.

A motion by Commissioner Jim Tomlinson to approve the zone change request from residential to heavy commercial on property on S. Bascom between Campbell and Apricot avenues died for lack of a second.

Then a motion by Commissioner Hal Lee to deny the request suffered the same fate.

Finally a motion by Commissioner Frank Klein to defer action until October 4 received a second and the unanimous approval.

The request for the zone change was submitted by George Van Sickle, owner of two parcels of property fronting on Bascom and extending to Union. The property fronting on Bascom is zoned C-2-S, although now used for residential purposes.

Van Sickle's desire, as explained by LeRoy Johnson, architect, was to increase the depth of the commercial zoning to allow for better land use. He suggested that such property could be used for an auto sales development, if the depth was extended.

Van Sickle's property adjoins the Baker Sales operation now conducting its business on a parcel fronting on Bascom but extending in depth in residential zoning. A complicated use permit-variance arrangement with the city is now in effect. Baker Trailer Sales and the city have just completed an agreement after months of litigation involving the eventual development of the property.

The trailer sales firm, represented by Attorney John M. Chargin, former Campbell mayor, had joined with Van Sickle in the zone change request. Chargin argued that the zone change would merely recognize a commercial use already in effect.

Complicating the zone-change, however, were other parcels in the proposed area not owned by either Baker or Van Sickle. Additional complications were also foreseen in the proposed local improvement district that is planned for the area.

After discussing the merits of the situation and agreeing property owned by the Rickey brothers could be eliminated, the majority of the commission still were not convinced that they were ready to make a decision.

They wanted, among other things, to see how the proposed street pattern of the area would affect the development. By next meeting they felt they would be able to make up their minds.

JOB GUIDANCE

Aptitude testing and other personnel tests are included in the course curriculum.

Report commends' police chief

Police Chief John Morgan of Campbell received a special commendation this week for the part he played in the police science program at West Valley College.

The West Valley College program in police science "exceeds the standards" established by the State Commission on Peace Officer Standards and Training and has been certified since Sept. 10, according to Howard W. Campen, chairman of the commission.

In a letter to the college's board of trustees Campen wrote: "the commission congratulates you and the West Valley College for your outstanding police science program. The commission especially commends Chief of Police John D. Morgan (of Campbell and one of the principal organizers of the program) and the excellent staff of police science instructors for their outstanding contributions for up-grading the quality of California law enforcement."

Campen continued: "Certification of your police science program now permits police and sheriff's departments throughout the state to employ your graduates with the assurance that all the basic course requirements for peace officers ... have been fulfilled."

Besides Morgan, West Valley instructors in the police science program include Harold Myers of the college's physical education department; Capt. Carl Arnold of the Campbell Police Department; Lt. Robert H. Bash of the Santa Clara Police Dept., and Victor Musser, a former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent.

Newlyweds honeymoon in British Columbia

Miss Donna Jean Schreck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Schreck of Los Gatos, was one of September's loveliest brides. The attractive brunette became Mrs. John Lawrence Cleman at a formal ceremony at the Palo Alto Methodist Church.

For her wedding day, Donna wore a silk peau de soie gown designed and made by her mother. It featured a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a pleated skirt tapered to a full chapel length train. The portrait neckline of her gown was trimmed with Belgium lace as was her veil which fell from a pill-box hat and a cluster of Dior roses. The veil was purchased in Belgium in 1961 when Donna and the members of Palo Alto Girl Scout Troop 25 toured Europe. She is the fourth Scout to wear the veil. Her beautiful bouquet was a cascade of white gladioli and butterfly roses.

Miss Ellen Reese of Palo Alto, a childhood friend was the maid of honor. Her floor length gown of orchid chiffon over taffeta featured a chantilly lace bolero and she carried a cascade of orchid gladioli and roses.

Bridesmaids were Misses Jo Ann Sobey of Los Gatos, Fran Bennet of Palo Alto and Joni Hall, a cousin from Pasadena. The junior bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Miss Denise Schreck. They were all similarly attired in orchid chiffon over taffeta and carried matching bouquets.

Bob Larson of Ellensberg, Washington served as the best man and ushers were Tom Cleman, the bridegroom's brother and Dennis Colwell, Fred Mundy and Loren Schreck.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the patio of the church where the couple cut a four tiered wedding cake. Following a wedding trip to Victoria and Vancouver Island, British Columbia, the newlyweds will make their home near Washington State University where the bridegroom will attend the Graduate School.

Donna is a graduate of Palo Alto High School and attended San Jose State College. Her brother, Ronald, was unable to attend the wedding as he is attending the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Cleman of Ellensburg, Wash. He is a 1965 graduate of Stanford University, where he was awarded the National Merit Scholarship in English. He will obtain his master's degree in English at Washington State University.

Call sounded for leaders

The annual call for leaders for the Camp Fire Girl program is being sounded by Mary Lou Hillyard, organization chairman. As always, leaders must be found for both Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls so that no youngster will be denied membership in groups.

Women volunteering do not have to have girls in the program. What they need, Mrs. Hillyard pointed out, is interest in Camp Fire Girls and a desire to work with girls. Anyone interested is invited to call Mrs. Hillyard at 379-2099.

Advisory group of college to expand to 21

The West Valley College 15-member advisory committee, of business, industrial, professional and government leaders will be expanded to 21 members, according to a decision reached recently by the institution's Board of Trustees.

The decision to augment the committee was reached late in the session following a public hearing on the role that such a body should have in the affairs of the junior college district. After the hearing Trustee Robert W. Brydon asked that the committee be expanded.

GRIME - - destroyer of clothes

by John D. Cooper

Grime comes from two major sources. It's either dirt from the atmosphere which gets pressed or rubbed into garments. Or both - - usually both, in fact.

There is, naturally, no preventive remedy. The atmosphere is never wholly clean. And we do perspire, and our skins exude oils. That's the human being for you, and that's all that can be said.

However, there is a treatment. And this is it.

NEVER PRESS ANY GARMENT THAT IS NOT CLEAN. Pressing or rubbing imbeds the grime more deeply, and causes it to penetrate the fibers of the fabric. The result is that the fabric will deteriorate more rapidly.

We therefore recommend that, in addition to being sure the garment is clean before it's pressed, you HAVE YOUR CLOTHES CLEANED OFTEN. It has been demonstrated time and again by every test known, that a garment which is regularly cleaned outwears one that isn't by a wide margin. In fact, one testing firm has stated that a hundred cleanings cause less wear than one week of wearing while the fabric is soiled! This means that your clothing will have that "like new" look longer if they are cleaned often.

So, for the best wardrobe care, and clean clothes, with all the grime removed - -

FAVORITE RECIPES WATCH THOSE CALORIES!

Now that the fall season is upon us, are you thinking about losing weight? You are more apt to stick to your diet if you balance and vary your menus. This is easy when you select foods from the four broad categories of (1) The Milk Group; (2) Meat Group; (3) Vegetable-Fruit Group; (4) Bread-Cereal Group. In addition to these you also need butter, margarine, fats or oils, but in all these foods the watchword is "moderation." Don't exceed your calorie quota.

An electric skillet is of great value to weight-watchers with its built-in thermostatic control. It lends itself to a variety of dishes and broils meat with little fat needed for cooking.

Here is a typical menu for one day which allows 1516 calories.

BREAKFAST

1/2 cup tomato juice, soft boiled egg, 2 slices enriched toast, 2 pats butter, black coffee.

LUNCH

Chicken bouillon, fresh fruit salad, (orange sections, grapefruit sections, 1/2 small banana, lettuce leaf), 1 oz. processed cheese, 1 slice enriched toast and 1 small slice custard pie, black coffee.

DINNER

Pot roast with mushrooms, 1 small boiled potato, 1/2 cup green peas, tossed salad with vinegar (lettuce, cucumber, green pepper), 1 slice enriched bread, 1 pat butter, 2-3 medium apricots, 1 cup skim milk.

SQUARE MEALS

Dinners in New England were called "square meals" during the late 18th century because most of the food was prepared in square tins.

This novel tells of the hardships endured by the aging Father Serra in the newly explored land. Then came General de Anza to lead a company of 240 men, women and children to found a mission and a settlement on the shores of San Francisco Bay.

THANK YOU NOTE

Dear George:

In behalf of the First Christian Church of Campbell, it is my pleasure to express our gratitude to you for the part you played in making our Groundbreaking Service such a memorable occasion. The very evident optimistic and encouraging note sounded by every participant added greatly to an already buoyant spirit of this growing congregation.

We cannot express too gratefully the wonderful way we as a congregation have been received by the City of Campbell. The favorable publicity and gracious cooperation in helping expedite every phase of preparation for our new House of Worship has been "TOPS". As we grow with Campbell, it is our desire to be a contributing factor to making Campbell a wonderful place to live.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

by
Gladstone A. Boquist

Q. My mother, who was receiving a widow's benefit, has recently died. I told the mailman of this event so that he would not deliver any more checks. Is there anything further I must do?

A. You should notify the Social Security Administration as soon as possible of the date of your mother's death, making sure that you include the claim number under which she was receiving benefits.

Q. My daughter, for whom I am receiving benefits has taken a part-time job. Must I report this now or wait until the end of the year?

A. If she expects to earn over $1200 for the year, it should be reported immediately and an estimate of her yearly earnings should be given. Be sure also to show the social security number under which benefits are being paid.

Q. My husband and I were separated several years before his death in 1965. We were never divorced. His sister arranged for and paid the burial expenses. I am 56 years old and have no children. Am I entitled to any benefits from social security?

A. Not at the present time. The only benefit payable now is the lump-sum death benefit, and it is payable to your husband's sister because she paid the burial expenses. Since you and your husband were never divorced, you will be entitled to widow's benefits on his record when you reach 62, provided you have not remarried.

Q. I've put off calling at the social security office for some time now because I'm getting along all right. Do I stand to lose anything if I wait a little longer?

A. That all depends. Each year many people lose thousands of dollars in benefits because they do not inquire in time about their eligibility. Social security payments are retroactive for only one year, so if you have waited over a year before making application for benefits, you may be losing money.

Evergreens set the stage

Whenever you plant an evergreen shrub, you are adding to the permanent framework of your garden. Polished specimens such as junipers, carry out the design at the two and three foot level. Mahonias, azaleas, boxwoods, nandinas, viburnums and other well-groomed evergreens form themselves into masses of beautiful foliage to give your garden structure and form. And they all work together to make a rich, green setting for changing seasonal color.

Among the most important evergreens you select for your permanent framework are the ones you use as direct backgrounds for flowers. According to the California Association of Nurserymen, the best shrubs for this use are the kind that form themselves naturally, or with some clipping, into a neat, dense mass. Plants that are clothed from the ground up in glossy, medium or fine-textured foliage make a solid, non-distracting background that's a beautiful foil for flower colors and shapes.

If you are looking for a shrub that will form a high wall of green for privacy as well as a flattering background for flowers, be sure to consider the Yew Pine (podocarpus). One of the finest evergreens for California gardens, this Oriental-appearing plant is usually seen as single, tall, columner, accent against patio or entry walls. But gardeners who have planted several in a row as a solid background for seasonal color are enthusiastic about the effect.

It's narrow, dark green leaves, held in starry clusters, grow rich and thick; and the new growth decorates it with a light, bright green that gives the planting a soft, textural look. You can clip it into a formal hedge 5 to 7 feet high and keep it as narrow as 18 inches. Or let it grow naturally to about 10 feet and encourage bushiness by occasionally pinching back new growth. Clean and pest free, hardly down to 10 degrees, and easy to grow in either full sun or deep shade, the Yew Pine is earning wide popularity

College trustees underwrite Philharmonic concert on campus

Trustees of West Valley College have voted unanimously to underwrite a concert on the campus by the Santa Clara Philharmonic Orchestra at a cost of $1250. The concert will be free to the public and will be financed by the College's community services budget.

The trustees approved the concert--to be presented probably during late October or early November --despite objections contained in a letter by Mayor Thomas B. Inglis of Monte Sereno.

A number of persons in the audience urged the trustees to underwrite the concert as an event of distinct educational value both to students and many residents of the district who would be unable to attend if admission were charged.

Among the backers were Mayor William Wilson Jr. of Santa Clara and Dr. Gibson Walters, head of the music department at San Jose State College and director of the philharmonic. Dr. Walters pointed out that the $1250 fee was "the bare costs only" and that his services would be contributed.

A unique feature of the West Valley concert, according to Dr. Walters, would be the presentation of members of the College's music department as guest artists. These would include Kenneth Jewell, organist, Marvin Scott, pianist, and Cesare Claudio, guest conductor.

The trustees at the meeting also heard a report from Dr. Wallace W. Hall, president, that enrollment had reached 5158 students with others yet to be registered in adult, non-credit classes. In addition Dr. Hall reported that 841 releases had been granted, of which 667 were to San Jose City College, 127 to Foothill College and 47 to various other institutions. This figure does not represent releases granted to students in special apprenticeship or technical programs at other colleges, he said.

Ten new teachers for Cambrian District

Cambrian School District opened its doors to a record 5,337 children on the first day of school, Monday, Sept. 13. Nine schools, eight kindergarten through 6th grade and one 7th-8th grade intermediate school, are in operation this year, and the new Norman Houge Intermediate School is scheduled to be open this time next year.

Seventy-five classified employees as well as 202 teachers, 9 principals, 2 consultants, a psychologist, 3 nurses, and 2 district administrators serve the child of the district. Over 3,200 applications were received this year to fill the ten new teaching positions.

New teachers to the district are:

Mrs. Virginia Johnston, Bagby School, grade 2; Miss Sheila Butts, Bagby School, grade 3; Miss Carol Price, Bagby School, grade 6; Miss Charlene Marron, Metzler School, grade 6.

Miss Pauline Campagna, Cambrian School, grade 3; Mrs. Joyce Grimes, Price School, Core 8th grade; Miss Hazel Inouye, Price School, Core 7th grade; Mrs. Sharon Liljenstolpe, Price School, Homemaking; Mr. Joe Coco, Price School, Shop Metal and Wood.

Returning from leaves of absence are:

Mrs. Nancy Bodendoerfer, Bagby School, grade 1; Mrs. Christina Wallace, Fammatre School, Special Education; Miss Phyllis Steele, Metzler School, grade 1; Miss Betty Acuff, Price School, Art and Core; Nick Sanford, Price School, Math and Science.

Miss Steele returns to the district after two years of teaching in Germany.

Miss Acuff taught two years in England and two years in France.

Mr. Sanford was a recipient of a Foreign Language (Russian) Fellowship at the University of Indiana NDEA Institute. This government sponsored program included a visit to Russia this summer.

An interesting note on the professional training and qualifications of the certificated personnel is that approximately 20% hold masters degrees, and 50% have completed a year or more of graduate work.

Nine Campbell youths enlist in U.S. Navy

Buc Banter

"BUC BANTER"
By MARY KNOWLES

To start, for those of you who may not realize it, Buc is short for Buccaneer which is the symbol for the Campbell High School athletic teams. So, in brief this column will cover activities of Campbell High School.

With last year being as great as it was, climaxed by the Junior class breaking an age old tradition and winning Rally Day, many people "feel it in their bones" that this year will be the greatest in the history of Campbell High School.

While all of the teachers were not available for comment, I will try to give a smattering of the summer activities of members of the faculty. After closing the school's financial books, Charles Freeman spent most of his time entertaining house guests, working in his flower garden, and going on a few camping trips.

Nick Bell, American Government teacher, spent thirty days in the Air Force and the remainder of the summer "recharging my batteries."

Agnes Valdez, Math teacher and the Director of Student Activities, spent most of the summer studying, but did take time out for a trip to New York and Chicago. Also studying during their their three month vacation from school were: Marcia West, Biology instructor, Wes Cummins, instructor of American History, Cassie Taul, Journalism, Christina Motmans, Dean of Girls, and Donna Burnett, Physical Education instructor who went to school in Mexico.

Joining the ranks of travelers this past summer were: Wes Cummins, who visited Utah, Patricia McInerny, who spent some time in Colombia, Robert Culp was in Los Angeles at the time of the Watts rioting. Bill Augenstein was there also, courtesy of the National Guard.

Wedding bells chimed for two of Campbell's teachers: Miss Joyce Miller, who did not return to teach this year, and Miss Virginia Waddell, who returned to school as Mrs. Sampson. Congratulations are in order also for Michael Sweeny who welcomed a new daughter into the family.

Student activities are well underway. The first dance of the new school year was held September 17. Due to the County Fair however, attendance was considerably lower than usual. The first football game will be this coming Friday in Santa Cruz. C & D basketball will be played at St. Francis on Thursday.

For the first time in five years, Campbell was privileged to have a foreign exchange student go overseas. Dianne Rawlinson spent the summer in Germany. Campbell is fortunate to have two exchange students this year.

Blackford Beat

THE BLACKFORD BEAT
by Diane Gipson and Carol Cook

All the hectic moments of the first week of school are now passed as the students fall back into the routine of school once again. Of course, that is except for the 460 new freshmen who are still getting orientated to our campus. All total, 1950 students showed up for the commencement of classes.

One of our new students is Patrico Guajarda. Pat is our foreign exchange student from Chile, here for a year under the American Field Service program. Also under the A. F. S. sponsorship, Rick Hanson, a Blackford student, traveled to Germany this summer for classes.

Another Blackford Brave we are proud of is Carolyn Woytus, who won first place in the Junior division of the talent contest at the Santa Clara County Fair. For doing her Russian Trepak dance, she received a large trophy and a sum of money. All of Blackford congratulates her.

The Blackford commissioners will again be busy as the school's activities get under way. The commissioners for this fall are as follows:

Art Commission, Dee Borden; Awards Com., Bud Gapero; Boys Athletics, Tom Takano; Noontime Activities, Eileen Bryan;

Sales Com., Noel Alfonso; Social Affairs, Dennis Reed; Literary Affairs, Ed Davis; Music Com., Fran Litz.

We would like to add a reminder about the football game, Blackford vs. Serra at 3 p.m. on Sept. 24 at Blackford.

College chorus calls for help from singers

An urgent call for music lovers--particularly those who like to sing has gone out from the Music Department of West Valley College.

In the normal course of events, reported Music Instructor Kenneth Jewell, neither he nor any other instructor need be concerned with any more students, considering the present overflow status of the temporary campus. However, the Wednesday night community chorus is the sort of class that thrives on numbers, the more the merrier.

"We plan to sing a lot and study a lot," Jewell said. "We'll study such representative choral masterpieces as Faure's Requiem, Handel's Messiah and Bach's Mass in A Minor. We need more people--men, women, college students, housewives, businessmen, wives, husbands, faculty, faculty spouses, townspeople—anybody who feels he or she can sing."

The class meets in E-8 each Wednesday starting at 7 p.m.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Always after a long hot summer of pressure Congress grows restive and irritable. But it was never more evident than on Monday, Sept. 13. That session set an all-time record of 22 roll calls and required the clerks to call more than 13,000 names in the thirteen hour meeting.

Though the day produced only frustration and seemed without constructive purpose, there were reasons behind the unusual display of mischief.

Under House rules, the second Monday is always District of Columbia day. On this day the Speaker extends the traditional courtesy of recognizing the Chairman of the District of Columbia Committee for the purpose of bringing up D.C. legislation. On Sept. 13 the District Chairman, John McMillan (D-S.C.), an opponent of the Administration bill for home rule, intended to bring up a bill which would allow the District to join the State of Maryland.

Speaker McCormack announced he would schedule seven other items and deny the Chairman the traditional courtesy. Thus he ruffled the feelings of McMillan and all his friends who became likely participants in a demonstration of protest.

The seven matters which displaced McMillan offended still another group. Without giving the Rules Committee a chance to act on them or even requesting action the Speaker called the seven bills up under the controversial 21-day rule which passed the House in January of this year. This irritated the Rules Committee and its supporters.

The first of the seven bills was controlled by Adam Clayton Powell. Though half the debate time for consideration of a rule is normally given to the minority, Powell refused to grant Republicans more than five of the sixty minutes allotted. With this an already strained situation erupted into a "Donnybrook". Feeling strongly that the power of a majority was being misused to deny its rights, the minority protested with the closest thing to a filibuster that is possible in the House.

Seven quorum calls and five additional roll calls were required before the House could proceed with business. Motions to adjourn required that the roll be called twice more. A full reading of the previous day's record was forced and the reading clerks droned on for hours. Finally three more roll calls disposed of this usually routine procedure. Five more roll calls added insult to injury. By this time, the crossfire of tempers had involved most everyone. Democrats charged Republicans with obstructionism and the Republicans countered with accusations of dictatorship. The Rules Committee and the District of Columbia Committee seethed with wounded pride.

While all this went on, what was the outside world thinking?

The burning issues and principles which enveloped these various groups on the Floor of the House were not, in the final analysis, nearly so important to others. On the news tickers just off the House Floor only a few words told of our pint-sized filibuster. Only one story caused the "urgency" bell on the teletype to ring; only one news event was designated as deserving high priority. ---"RINGO STARR was a father!"

COUNTY OFFICIAL--Daniel W. Allison (above) has been named administrative analyst by County Executive Howard W. Campen.
